

GES/SR/66.4
CVD/RF/66.7
ORIGINAL : ENGLISH

SURVEILLANCE REPORTS

ANTISTREPTOLYSIN O SURVEYS AS AN INDICATOR OF THE PREVALENCE OF STREPTOCOCCAL INFECTIONS
AMONG THE POPULATION OF
THAILAND, PAKISTAN AND EASTERN NIGERIA

by

Dr J. Rotta,<sup>a</sup> Mr J. Jelinek,<sup>b</sup> Dr K. Zacek,<sup>c</sup>
Dr J. L. de Vries,<sup>d</sup> Dr P. Chanthranetra,<sup>e</sup>
and Dr G. M. Antal.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>a</sup>Dr J. Rotta, Director of WHO International Streptococcus Reference laboratory at the Institute of Epidemiology and Microbiology, Prague.

<sup>b</sup>Mr J. Jelinek, Statistician, Institute of Epidemiology and Microbiology, Prague.

<sup>c</sup>Dr K. Zacek, Director of WHO Serum Reference Bank at the Institute of Epidemiology and Microbiology, Prague.

<sup>d</sup>Dr J. L. de Vries, Medical Officer, Venereal Diseases and Treponematoses, WHO, Geneva.

<sup>e</sup>Dr P. Chanthranetra, Chief Medical Officer, Sub-Headquarters, Korat, Treponematoses Control Project, Division of Venereal Disease and Treponematoses, Department of Health, Bangkok.

<sup>f</sup>Dr G. M. Antal, Medical Officer, WHO Treponematoses Epidemiological Teamleader.