INFLUENZA

Europe

Europe

Italie (information en date du 30 janvier). —¹ A Rome, la poursée d'affections d'allure grippale, déjà mentionnée dans le Relevé N° 2, a pris une assez grande extension. Plusieurs nouvelles souches de virus grippal B ont été isolées.

D'autre part, deux souches de virus grippal A2 ont été isolées chez des malades au cours d'une poussée épidémique d'affections d'allure grippale qui s'est produite dans une petite ville de la Province de Trente, en Italie du nord.

Centre mondial de la Grippe, Londres. —¹ Le virus B/Rome/1/67, isolé à Rome au début de la poussée grippale actuelle, a donné des titres relativement faibles avec tous les antisera en présence desquels il a été testé, à part l'antiserum à larges affinités B/Romania/2/66.² Il s'agit là d'un caractère commun à la plupart des souches récentes de virus B. B/Rome/1/67 ne représente donc probablement pas une nouvelle variante antigénique. Un antiserum B/Rome/1/67 est en voie de préparation en vue de tests complémentaires.

Italy (information dated 30 January). —¹ The outbreak of influenza-like illness in Rome, already reported in Record No. 2, is fairly extensive. Several more strains of influenza virus B have been isolated.

Two strains of influenza virus A2 were isolated from patients in an outbreak of influenza-like disease in a small town in Trento Province, Northern Italy.

World Influenza Centre, London. —¹ The virus B/Rome/1/67, isolated at the beginning of the present influenza outbreak in Rome, has given relatively low titres with all antisera against which it has been tested, except the broadly reacting B/Romania/2/66 antiserum.² This is a feature common to most recent strains of virus B. It is therefore unlikely that B/Rome/1/67 is a new antigenic variant. A B/Rome/1/67 antiserum is being prepared for additional tests.
